

Painting and Walking Holidays with Rosemary Burns

While on holidays add colour to your life that will last forever

Rosemary Burns is a full time artist who loves to share her passion with others by taking them to magical places and teaching them to 'see' and the skills to paint.

This year there is a choice of combining learning a skill and keeping fit!

La Huerta Ganga

Venue: La Huerta Ganga, Comares, Spain

Dates: June 17th - 24th 2006 and September 9th - 16th 2006

Perched high up on the mountain top is the quaint andalucian village of Comares. Nestled just beneath is La Huerta Ganga - a spacious villa bathed in warm sun and cool breezes, surrounded by almond and olive orchards. An ideal venue to refresh and restore your soul, explore and expand your hidden talents or simply to relax and take in the gorgeous views lazing by the pool!

Painting classes take place each day and for those who would like to combine some physical activity there are optional daily Yoga classes every morning, organised hill walking on 3 mornings and aromatherapy and Shiatsu massage on request - all with professionally qualified practitioners.

There is one Free Day mid week during which an optional trip to Granada and visit to the Alhambra Palace is organised.

A combination of loving attention to your personal comfort delicious meals made from garden grown produce and a peaceful atmosphere allows you to feel at home while enjoying an abundance of fun and laughter - the essential ingredients of life!

Special reduction for anyone who would like to accompany 'budding artists'! Non painting partners are welcome to join in all peripheral activities including hill walking, yoga, guitar lessons or just lazing by the pool!

Cost: €350 with a 50% reduction for non painting partners.
The price includes art tuition, accommodation (sharing) all meals and airport transfers
